An Evening Echo.

Nothing can constitute good breeding that has not good nature for its foundation.—BULWER.

Louis Bennett, of Weston, is now called Lewis Bennett in a Wheeling newspaper, which goes to show how evanescent is fame.

Local observers are almost unanimous in declaring that the skirts slit along the side are much more attractive than those slit in the front.

Slightly paraphrasing an editorial remark by the Parkersburg Sentinel, the Telegram will say that the ship of state sails safely with Skipper Hatfield at the helm.

Mention of William Jennings Bryan's name on the stage of a local theater provoked a concert of jibes, scornful laughter and a few hisses from the audience, which indicates that William is not quite so popular as he used to be.

It is a good thing for the American people that William J. Bryan agreed to play second fiddle when chosen secretary of state. If he had not we might be having a war with Mexico, but then, of course, if he had not he would not have been chosen secretary of state.

Inasmuch as the Progressive candidate for Congress in this district was endorsed by the Republicans in the last congressional campaign, it would be only a return of courtesy for the Progressives this time to pin their faith to some good Republican and thus rout the common Democratic enemy.

The Charleston Mail is boosting Joseph Holt Gaines, of its city, for the position of dean of the College of Law in the state university. Mr. Gaines could fill the job all right, but it does not appear that he has got to the point as yet of retiring from the political field. It may be that he will have to return to Congress some of these days.

Lessons from Abroad.

"While we have as yet made no official recommendations as a result of our European investigation," said J. P. Marsh shortly after his return from the foreign tour of the American Agricultural Commission, "still certain features stand out prominently and might well be used in the development of West Virginia agriculture."

The good roads found everywhere in Europe, even in the mountainous districts, are an indication of what might be done here. West Virginia has been called the "Switzerland of America." The native Swiss can teach his American cousin much in the matter of utilizing the rough farming lands to greater advantage. The dairy products of Switzerland have become world famous. No small part of the success of the various European farming communities visited, is due to the wide-spread spirit of co-operation which exists. The farmers of a community or of an entire district will often co-operate in the purchase of supplies, in handling local finances and in numerous other affairs. All these things tend to lower the cost of production and to raise the margin of profit.

Many of the European methods are not adaptable to American conditions but it is believed that when the commission makes its official report next winter, many definite plans for rural improvement will be set forth.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

Looks the Part.

If the pictures printed are anything like a resemblance, Huerta looks the part.—Morgantown Post-Chronicle.

A Question.

If John W. Davis resigns in the absence of Governor Hatfield from the state would anybody have to "urge Sam Woods" to call a special election in the First district?—Fairmont West Virginian.

"Whole Hog or None."

And now a West Virginian, they say, has blended the tomato and potato vines in such fashion that potatoes will grow on the roots and tomatoes on the branches. And why not have it gather maple sugar under earth and exude honey from the branches?—Charleston Gazette.

Impossible Possibility.

If all the newspapers of the United States would enter into a solemn and never-to-be-broken agreement to give no more publicity to the Thaw garbage than they would to an ordinary police court case, it would not be long before the odorous affair would be quietly and finally settled. But as long as hysterical public interest continues, it is rather certain that such an agreement will not be made.—Parkersburg Sentinel.

Six Speckled Beauties.

We read the Appeal to Reason (?) The Menace (rightly named) The Yellow (very) Jacket, The Hornet, The Rip Saw and the Kanawha Citizen—"six speckled beauties." For a time, we could not decide; but after several moons spent in careful perusal, we are forced to the conclusion that for straight out and out demagoguery, the Citizen is several blocks ahead.—Doddridge Republican.

A One Sided Case.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad ought to be able to put up a strong defense at the trial of the sun brough against it by a man who alleges that a window on one of its trains fell down on his hand and cut off his thumb. Lawyers for the railroad company could prove by a million witnesses that it is impossible to raise a window in any of its cars. So how, pray, could one fall down.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

After the Elks.

Wonder if the B. P. O. E., in their meeting at Wheeling September 23-25, can be persuaded to come to Charleston next year? They had a fine time here some years ago, and it is about time they were coming back again. Since the meeting here the local lodge has acquired a splendid club room, the city has a new armory and various other improvements might be noted that would add to their stay next year should they favor this city again.—Charleston Mail.

Foolishness.

The general characterization in the telegraphic dispatches and the newspapers of the kindly attitude of the Wilson administration of this country toward the Huerta government in Mexico, is sheer rot. There is no special love displayed in smothering a man with a feather bed. To stick a knife in a fellow, accompanying the act with a smile, doesn't stop the flow of blood. What sweet talk Wilson and Bryan may indulge in to old Huerta, the fact remains that they insist on his eliminating himself from Mexican affairs. Considering that Huerta walked knee-deep in blood, betrayed Madero, was guilty of assassination, and resorted to any kind of villainy possible to get to the president of Mexico, it is merely irony to insist on his getting out of politics, and to claim that polite conversation atones for this. Give us a rest on that sort of nonsense.—Parkersburg State Journal.

Prisoner is Released.

Philadelphia, Pa.—A prisoner held here on a charge of horse stealing was released when chief of police of Newark, Ohio, refused to pay the charges on the telegram notifying him of the arrest.

Loses $200 Diamond Ring.

Sayville, N. Y.—J. C. Rose threw a match with which he had lighted a cigar into the bay here and with it went a $200 diamond setting from his ring.

N Women's Autumn Apparel E Fashions Latest W Mandates

For weeks past, new things have been coming in daily—late fashion developments are given expression in new apparel here.

Autumn Suits Smart cutaway Tailored Suits in 36 and 38 inch length coats; all are entirely new; some with short fronts and sloping backs, some in the semi-Russian effect, some with empire lines. All are handsomely and well tailored as could be, many have trimming touches of distinction and individuality. Among the materials are both plain and rough weaves—diagonals, serges, Bedford cords, boucles, wood poplins, wool broads, broadcloth and many novelty two tone colorings. Many are copied from foreign models. Prices—$10.98, $16.50, $22.50, $25.00, $30.00, $37.50 and $40.00. The best tailored Suit values in Clarksburg. Test this statement, let us show you.

Autumn Coats At moderate prices, $10.00, $12.50, $16.50 and $25.00, are many new Coats, chiefly of the rough weaves, boucles, diagonals and rich, silky two-tone effects, the long shoulder effect is a new feature, and so is the sleeve made in one with the yoke, though the plain set-in sleeve is in high favor; the lowered wide belt effect is perhaps the newest feature.

New Waists So many lovely new Blouses are here that no attempt will be made at description. You must see them. We believe you will find here the best-selected, most attractive collection shown anywhere. Silk, lace and chiffon in beautiful colors, including everything that's new, and with exquisite trimmings in varied effects. Prices $5 to $12.50. New Cotton Waists, showing many new style-features, from $2 to $7.50.

TAILORED SKIRTS AT $5.00 TO $6.98

An advance display of models—not a bit too soon for the woman beginning to plan her fall wardrobe. Skirt styles are established now—she will find here the newest and best skirt values in the city.
